

PET BIRD SHOW - Saturday May 10, 2003, Sunnybrook Ballroom, Pottstown Pennsylvania Judged by Kelly Williams, Avian Specialist with 20 Years in the Hobby

Castle Enterprises invites you to participate in a Pet Bird Show to be held during the 2003 Bird Fest at the Sunnybrook Ballroom on May 10, 2003. This "just for fun" competition is not for the seasoned parrot exhibitor but truly for the pet enthusiast. Judging will be based primarily on the "Pet" traits of birds: personality, antics, talking, tameness, etc., as well as the condition and overall health will be taken into consideration. Birds will not be removed from their cage at anytime or handled by the judge during the judging process.

The show judge is Kelly Williams from Pottstown Pennsylvania. During the past 20 years Kelly has kept a variety of pet birds and is knowledgeable on many species of parrots and other birds. She has also been the PA State Coordinator for the American Federation of Aviculture for five years and is active in several other avian organizations. Her outgoing personality and charm will surely add to the day's competition making for a fun time for all.

The competition begins at 1:00 PM and will conclude by 4:00 PM. Birds must be registered and checked in by 12 Noon show day and must be checked out immediately following the judging. There is no fee to participate in the show and even better, bird exhibitors receive a discount on admission to the Bird Fest (a $3.00 savings). Birds must be entered in a "cleaned" cage with food and water. Winning entries will receive a ribbon and the best entries in show will win rosette awards. In order to help us plan the bird show seating, staging, and awards, we do request entries be pre-registered by contacting Lori Castle at info@PetBirdShows.com, phone (717) 957-4241 or complete and return the form below. Pre-registration is requested, not required. Entries will also be accepted the morning of the show.
